Aquanaut European Voyager 1500 II "Admiraal"

You are not going to find a better thought out yacht any time soon!

The current owners of Cariba have been water sports enthusiasts for decades and sailed many sailing and powerboat yachts in their lifetime. They applied all their experience(s) to the construction of this Aquanaut European Voyager 1500 II Admiral. In consultation with Aquanaut, this resulted in a yacht that has been thought through down to the smallest details. You will not find a better thought-out yacht than this Cariba any time soon!

At the push of a button, your bicycle rack with bicycles rises from the rear deck. All you have to do is open the side doors of the open cockpit and your bike exploration can begin. Ideas like this only come about by pooling knowledge and expertise. That is what happened throughout the design and construction in the cooperation between the current owners and Aquanaut.

It resulted in a super-complete yacht with everything on and on. Nothing is a coincidence with this yacht. Really everything has been thought through. Another example of this? The color scheme on board! The color of the gray tinted glass has been implemented everywhere. From PVC flooring to the upholstery of the cushions. The layout is also well thought out. Each room can be connected to create space or, conversely, closed off from each other to ensure privacy. How nice is that on a ship made for far journeys over seas and inland waterways.

With this apartment on the water you move into a second home with all the comforts. Basically, this ship breathes class everywhere, but you can easily add your personal taste. As if you were moving into a newly built house, in which you can still reflect your own character. Both on the outside and on the inside, this European Voyager is like an eye-catcher on the water.

That makes Cariba truly a dream ship.
