Pieter Beeldsnijder PB Timless 36 Special (Aluminium Fastgoing)

An aluminum motor yacht of just under eleven meters that immediately attracts attention with its elegant, timeless lines, powerful appearance and well-thought-out layout. This model, designed by Pieter Beeldsnijder, breathes the outdoors; The spacious, sheltered open cockpit forms the heart of the ship, where water, air and light come together. The yacht is built to be both quiet and relaxed and smooth and fast to sail, the powerful engine effortlessly delivers the necessary power to explore rivers with strong currents, such as the Rhine. The aluminum underwater hull contributes to stability, low weight and a direct, sporty but also relaxed sailing experience.

Sonnen Blume offers four fixed berths that are cleverly distributed throughout the ship, so that every space is used optimally. At the back of the spacious open cockpit there are two beautifully concealed berths, subtly integrated into the design and only visible when you need them. The cockpit itself is an attractive living space with an inviting U-shaped sofa with table and the swivel steering and passenger seat can easily be involved in the seating area. A spacious cool box is placed under both seats, ideal for long days on the water, making the cockpit a wonderful place to stay both while sailing and anchoring.

In the bow a cabin with the other two spacious berths, a compact but complete galley, the seating area with table and the bathroom. This layout makes the ship practical and comfortable, with sufficient privacy and living space for several people on board. The galley is functionally furnished and the bathroom offers exactly what is needed, with attention to detail and ease of use befitting a yacht of this class.

The ship has been professionally maintained and this is reflected in the neat finish, reliable technology and complete equipment. Simrad's extensive navigation equipment provides overview and safety, both on open water and on busy rivers with changing conditions. Sonnen Blume is therefore a stable, powerful and inviting motor yacht, ready for new adventures on the water.
