Tough, elegant and built for adventure. Probably no other Pilot 39 has received more love, attention and craftsmanship than the "Ghost". This ship was finished for his own use by an experienced shipwright who specialized in carpentry and finishing work on yachts for many years. This special Pilot 39 is now offered for sale by the second owner with a heavy heart.

The Pilot 39 is an 11.70 meter long steel motor cruiser, designed by Willem Nieland and built by Rego in Lelystad. This special ship combines a robust build quality with a practical layout, a high level of comfort and a CE category B. This makes it excellent for both long journeys on inland waterways and adventurous trips along the coast.

With a length of 11.70 metres, a width of 4.00 metres and a draught of only 1.10 metres, the Pilot 39 offers an excellent balance between space, comfort and sailing characteristics. The 110 hp Steyr water-cooled four-cylinder diesel engine ensures reliable performance, while the 1,000-litre fuel tank provides considerable range.

The spacious open cockpit has a beautiful teak finish and has practical storage space and benches. From the cockpit you enter the wheelhouse through a special door. This door has a glossy finish and can be opened separately at both the top and bottom, providing extra ventilation and ease of use.

The saloon has large windows that offer excellent all-round visibility and let in plenty of daylight. The raised L-shaped saloon sofa forms a comfortable seat with a beautiful view of the outside. Opposite the sitting area is a beautiful cupboard wall with a concealed television on an electric TV lift. The centrally placed steering position is equipped with the necessary navigation equipment. In addition, the electrically adjustable glass sunroof provides extra light and optimal ventilation.

The fully equipped galley has a 3-burner stove, a fridge with freezer compartment, a double stainless steel sink in two sizes, a microwave and plenty of cupboard space. This makes the ship excellent for longer stays on board.

The Pilot 39 has two comfortable cabins. The owner's cabin is furnished with a generous freestanding double bed, while the guest cabin features a spacious double berth. The neat spacious bathroom has a sink, toilet and a separate shower cabin.

The engine room is easily accessible from the cockpit via a separate entrance. In addition to the motor, this includes the charger/inverter, the isolation transformer, the central heating and the control unit of the four solar panels.

Thanks to the well thought-out hull design and the tubular water ledges used, the Pilot 39 has excellent sailing characteristics and a high degree of stability. Even with more wind or a restless water surface, the ship sails comfortably, steady on course and inspires confidence.

The Pilot 39 "Ghost" is therefore a tough and stylish ship for the water sports enthusiast who values comfort, safety and reliability. Thanks to the well thought-out layout, high-quality finish and excellent sailing characteristics, this is a ship with which you can make longer trips in comfort. A ship that has been built and maintained with visible craftsmanship, and is ready for many new sailing adventures.
