Super van Craft 1220

For many, Super van Craft is the 'Rolls Royce' of Dutch motor yachts. Classic and chic and known for its fan bow and the wooden superstructure with large windows. "Regina" has no inside steering position and contrary to what you usually find with a Super van Craft, she only has one Volvo-Penta engine of 140 hp. In addition to the appearance and the correct layout, this was a reason for the current owners to buy her 16 years ago and sail through the French canals with her.

"Regina" has a very neat interior with in the bow, in addition to a guest cabin with 2 beds and space for a washing machine, also the galley and a dinette. The salon is laid out as you would expect from a Super van Craft; with a spacious cupboard wall on the starboard side with the well-known "drinks cabinet" and on the port side the refrigerator and a spacious L-shaped well-sitting bench with storage space. With French windows opening in the saloon, sliding windows on both sides and a large sliding roof, there are plenty of ventilation options for the hot days.

In the stern is the bathroom with shower, sink and electric toilet, a very spacious (hanging) closet and the owner's cabin with 2x single beds with a "dressing table" in the middle.

On the aft deck you will find the steering gear on the port side and against the transom of the ship a very well-seated bench with lots of storage space below. "Regina" is located in a covered hall at our sales marina ready for a viewing.
