The "Derwent" is an excellently maintained motor yacht from 2008 with a sporty and sturdy line. This Valk Merlin is 14.40 m long and 4.24 m wide and offers a generous headroom of 200 cm in the saloon and 195 cm in the bow throughout the ship. Thanks to the smart layout and extensive equipment, the boat is ideal for longer stays and beautiful trips on inland and coastal waters.

The luxuriously finished yacht has two comfortable cabins. The owner's cabin is equipped with a spacious V-bed, the guest cabin has a double bed. The bathroom is separate from the toilet room and has a shower and the toilet room has an electric toilet and a washbasin.

The galley is practically furnished with a ceramic hob, a spacious worktop and a fridge with freezer compartment. Opposite the galley is a spacious dinette that also offers extra sleeping places. In the foreship, portholes and no fewer than six roof hatches provide plenty of light and good ventilation.

In the spacious saloon, all windows are double-glazed, including the sliding windows and the middle swing window. Here you will also find the steering with excellent all-round visibility and the necessary navigation equipment. The leather helm and passenger seats are rotatable; The passenger seat also has a chart table with storage space. The L-shaped bench in the saloon is spacious and the table can be placed in different ways, suitable for a game or as a drinks table. Through two French doors and two opening windows, the saloon flows seamlessly into the open cockpit, which is equipped with an outside steering position and bench seats.

The ship offers a lot of storage space, including under the floor of the saloon and under the floor of the open cockpit. All around are spacious gangways and a high guard rail with partial wooden finish and handles. All walking decks and the upper deck on the "Derwent" are finished with teak.

In short, a spacious and complete motor yacht with a 170 hp Vetus Deutz engine, bow and stern thruster, Eberspächer central heating, generator and a beautiful wooden floor throughout the ship.
