Valkkruiser Voyager 14.50

The Valkkruiser Voyager 14.50 is a very spacious motor yacht with a guest cabin in the foreship, equipped with a spacious freestanding bed, a separate bathroom with sink and shower, and a separate toilet with an extra sink. The galley is L-shaped and equipped with a worktop, sink, microwave and refrigerator, and adjacent is a large dinette. In the salon there is a large cupboard wall with TV cabinet and a spacious sofa.

In the stern is a toilet room with sink, an electric toilet and a separate washing machine (2025) with dryer. The spacious owner's cabin has a freestanding double bed of 200 x 150 cm, plenty of closet and storage space and a large en suite bathroom with a spacious washbasin and shower.

The Valkkruiser is equipped with central heating throughout the ship and a heavy generator. On the large aft deck there is a centrally placed steering position with all necessary navigation equipment, a separate bench with storage space, two built-in refrigerators and a work surface. Against the mirror is a spacious, cozy U-shaped sofa with plenty of storage space. The wide gangways are at the same level as the aft deck and on both sides of the stern easily walkable semicircular stairs lead to the bathing platform.

The cruiser is powered by a 210 hp Iveco engine and has bow and stern thrusters, making it easy to manoeuvre the ship to the desired location. In 2024, the superstructure, hull and underwater hull have been painted and the upholstery, carpeting and autopilot have been renewed, among other things.
